A Religious Author's Statement.

Rev. Joseph H. Hesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." A. McMillen, Druggist.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for McCook People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. M. J. Wyatt, Minden, Nebr., says: "For eight years I suffered from acute attacks of backache, brought on by a disorder of my kidneys. My condition was such at times, that I was hardly able to stoop and to go up and down stairs was an action attended with much misery. If I exerted myself, a dull aching across my back would become so acute that I would be forced to lie down and rest. The secretions from my kidneys were also too frequent in action and annoyed me a great deal. I became tired and languid, was restless nights and arose in the morning all worn out. A few months ago I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and found such prompt and gratifying results that I continued their use until completely cured.

Plenty more proof like this from McCook people. Call at a drug store and ask what customers report.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

How can any person risk taking some unknown cough remedy when Foley's Honey and Tar costs them no more? It is a safe remedy, contains no harmful drugs, and cures the most obstinate coughs and colds. Why experiment with your health? Insist upon having the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar. A. McMillen, Druggist, McCook.

A SUNDAY STROLL.

This Recreation Was at One Time Unlawful in Maine.

Something of the exact behavior demanded from young people by those in authority in the early days of the nineteenth century is brought to notice in the biography of Peter Edes, a pioneer printer in Maine. Mr. Edes had an apprentice, James Orrock, who enjoyed a walk on Sunday after a week of in-door employment.

Mr. Edes soon found out that this was not permitted at Bangor and wrote to a friend of the trouble caused him by his apprentice's apparently innocent amusement.

"You must know," he writes, "that the people are very strict on this day and will not let men walk out, much less boys. James was strolling about and was ordered home by the tything men, but he would not obey them. A complaint was lodged against me on the next day, and I should have been obliged to pay a fine had not Judge Dutton pleaded in my behalf that I did not approve of such conduct and so got clear."

Another interesting incident in connection with life in Bangor at this time is an advertisement which appeared in Mr. Edes' paper, the Bangor Weekly Register, stating that "E. & M. R. Edes have opened a school in the room over the Register office for the instruction of young misses and small children in the useful and ornamental branches of education."

The terms were: "Orthography and plain work, 17 cents per week; writing, English grammar, geography with the use of maps, composition, ornamental needlework, 25 cents per week." This was probably one of the first schools in Maine for teaching young ladies exclusively in the branches of education and also including plain work and fancy needlework.

Women Indispensable.

"I'm the president of the Progressive Women's league," said the spare female with stern features as she grabbed the London bus conductor by the sleeve and made him register over again one of the fares he had just collected.

"I can't help that, ma'am," replied the conductor in a rather short tone.

"Nobody asked you to," she went on. "I'm gathering statistics, and I spent twopenny just to get on this bus to interview you. The statement has been made in some newspapers, in an attempt to prove that our sex is incapable of handling the reins of government, that one woman gives more trouble in a public conveyance than a dozen men."

"Well, ma'am"—

"Perhaps I'd better put it more plainly," she said, interrupting him. "Let me ask you as a conductor, would you find your work easier if no women at all rode in the omnibuses?"

"It might be a little easier, ma'am," he replied, "but I don't see how in the world we would ever get along without them."

"Hold on!" she cried joyfully. "Let me write down every word you've said. Once more, I see, we will be able to silence our enemies. Now, my good man, tell me why female passengers are indispensable."

"Because, ma'am," returned the conductor, "if it wasn't for the women we could never get rid of all the bad money we happen to take."

The Fire Worshippers.

Azerbaijan, a province in northwestern Persia, is the home of the descendants of the Ghebers, the ancient fire worshippers of Persia. The whole countryside is admirably adapted to the propagation of a fire worshipping creed, for earthquakes and cavernous vomiting fumes from subterranean conflagrations abound in the neighborhood of Tabriz. One of the most remarkable caverns in the world is that of Secandeh, whose character resembles the Grotto del Cane of Naples. It gives off noxious fumes, which at certain times are certain death to man and beast. But the most astonishing place in Azerbaijan is the ruined city of Takht-i-Suleimann, or Solomon's temple. The city stands on a hill 150 feet high, with a wall of thirty feet embracing the crumbling remains of temple and shrine. In the midst is a "lake of deepest azure." Although most of the buildings are of the Mohammedan period, there is one striking mass which has been identified as the temple of the fire worshippers.

What a Memory!

One rainy day in spring an old Yorkshire fisherman returned to his native village after an absence of fifteen years and fearfully sought the house which sheltered his deserted wife. Entering without knocking, he seated himself near the open door, took a long and vigorous pull at his dirty clay pipe and nodded jerkily to "toward woman."

"Mornin', Maria," he said, with affected unconcern.

She looked up from the potatoes she was peeling and tried to utter the scathing tirade she had daily rehearsed since his departure, but it would not come.

"Ben," she said instead, once more resuming her work, "bring the sen o'er to 't' fire an Ah'll darn that hole 't' thy jersey. Ah meant don't 't' day tha went away, but summat put me off!"—London Answers.

Customs in Public Dining Rooms.

"Have you ever noticed persons enter a restaurant—how the women invariably select a center table, while a man will linger or glance about in the hope that he may find a comfortable seat in some corner or against the wall?" said a proprietor of a fashionable restaurant. "It's almost always so and is always amusing. The women like to show their gowns, while the men—well, my theory of it is that the habit is a relic of the cave days, when a man preferred a position against the wall so he could fight his enemies to advantage."—New York Herald.

Not Caused by the Hat.

"How do you like my hat?" she asked.

"Why, to tell the truth," replied her dearest friend frankly, "I don't like the effect very well. It seems to me it gives you a rather cross look."

"Oh, that isn't the hat," she responded cheerfully.

"No?"

"Oh, not at all. That comes entirely from the fact that I have just seen my husband and he had just seen the bill."—Chicago Post.

Wordsworth's Joke.

"I never made a joke but once in my life," confessed Wordsworth, and the rest of the story leaves one in doubt whether he knew a joke when he saw it. "Meeting a peasant neighbor one day, he asked me, 'Ha! ye seen my wife, Meester Wordsworth?' 'My good fellow,' said I, 'I didn't so much as know that you had a wife!'"

Truth or Fiction?

"Ah, what a difference there is," remarked the cynic wearily, "between courtship and marriage! Courtship is made up of soft nothings—marriage of hard facts."

And he broke the world's record for a sigh.—New York Times.

More Than He Bargained For.

Mrs. Benham—I am getting stouter all the time. Benham—Yes; when I got married I little realized that I was getting a wife on the installment plan.

It is often woman who inspires us with the great things that she will prevent us from accomplishing.—Alexandre Dumas.

Forgets to Mail Them.

She—I really think that something should be done to lighten the loads of the postmen. He—Well, you know, dear, I do all I can to lighten 'em!—Yonkers Statesman.

Can You Spell?

Test Your Ability by Writing This Jumble From Dictation.

It is some time ago since spelling bees were popular forms of entertainment in this country, but still one occasionally comes across the very superior person who tells you he can easily spell any word ever printed in a dictionary. If ever you meet this type of man, just ask somebody to dictate the following jumble to him and see how many mistakes he will make:

"Antinous, a disappointed, desiccated physicist, was peeling potatoes in an embarrassing and harassing way. His idiosyncrasy and privilege was to eat mayonnaise and mussels while staring at the Pleiades and seizing people's tricycles and velocipedes. He was an erring teetotaler and had been on a pleyauze jamboree. He rode a palfrey stallion and carried a salable papier mache bouquet of asters, phlox, mullein, chrysanthemums, rhododendrons, fuchsias and nasturtiums.

"He wore a silyb's resplendent turquoise paraphernalia, an ornoltu yashmak and astrakhan chaparejos. He drank crystallizable and disagreeable curaceno juleps through a sieve. He stole some moneys and hid them under a peddler's mahogany bedstead and mattress.

"Like a fiend in an ecstasy of gaiety I rushed after him into the maelstrom, or melee, and held him as in a vise. I could not feaze him, however, and he addressed me, with autocracy, in the following imbecile words, which sounded like a soliloquy or a superseding paean on an oboe: 'You are a ratable lunamoth, a salaaming vizioer, an equinoctial coryphee and an isosceles daguerreotype.'"—New York Mail.

A Curious Story.

The queen of Hanover, wife of King Ernest Augustus of Hanover (better known as the Duke of Cumberland, son of George III), died at Hanover about 1842 of an illness which baffled the skill of her doctors as to its real cause. During her illness a clairvoyant was consulted, who wrote certain curious signs and words on the door of her bedroom; but, although these mystic words were repeated over and over again, the queen died. The king of Hanover after his wife's death gave orders that her bedroom should always be kept as though the queen would sleep there at night. The bed was turned down, the pillows reshaken, hot water brought and the daintiest slippers laid in readiness for her.—Home Notes.

Yet They Needed Exercise.

Two men whose offices were on the second floor were on the first floor waiting for an elevator. Long and impatiently they waited.

"You're not looking extra well, Londsel," remarked the lawyer.

"No, Rangle," replied the real estate man. "Think I'll join an athletic club. I need the exercise."

"Me too."

Still they waited for the elevator.—Kansas City Times.

He Meant Dollars.

"Old Cosh landed in this country in his bare feet ten years ago. Now he's got millions."

"You don't say! Why, he's got a pentiped skinned to death, hasn't he?"—Cleveland Leader.

The Other Half.

Royal Marine (engaged in coaling ship)—When I joined the corps the sergeant 'e ses to me, "It's 'arf soldier'n an' 'arf yachtin'!" 'e ses. I suppose this is the bloomin' yachtin'!

McCook, Nebraska, March 11, 1909.

The board of county commissioners met pursuant to adjournment. Present: S. Premer, C. B. Gray and F. S. Lofton, commissioners, Sidney Dodge, county attorney, and Chas. Skalla, county clerk.

On motion it was voted that C. H. Boyle be employed by the county board to check over the books in the office of the clerk of the district court and report their condition to the county board.

On motion it was voted that the county clerk be instructed to demand of P. E. Reeder, ex-county attorney, the following-described property of Red Willow county, to-wit: one two-volume set of 1867 Colby's Statutes, one one-volume 1897 Colby's Statutes, one one-volume 1867 Wheeler's Statutes, four chairs bought of J. E. Ludwick, two letter files, one two-tray wire basket, one calendar pad and stand, one duster, one letter cop, all of which property belongs in the county attorney's office, and that a prompt compliance with this demand will be appreciated by the board.

The official bond of Walter Gay, as constable of Lebanon Precinct, was examined, and on motion approved.

The following claims were audited and allowed and the clerk was instructed to draw warrants on the road fund of Commissioner District No. 3, as follows:

Jack Greenwood road..... $ 32 80
John Britton, same..... 17 20
W. T. Clark, same..... 42 20

On motion the board adjourned to meet March 23, 1909.

S. PREMER, Chairman.

Attest: CHAS. SKALLA, County Clerk.

Simple Remedy for LaGrippe.

La grippe coughs are dangerous as they frequently develop into pneumonia. Foley's Honey and Tar not only stops the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs so that no serious results need be feared. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar contains no harmful drugs and is in a yellow package. Refuse substitutes. A. McMillen, Druggist, McCook.
